GREAT GRACE

God threw worlds from the tips of His fingers,
He put every star in its place,
He lighted the sun in its glory,
The moonbeams He scattered apace.

He made all the seas and the oceans,
He made all the onrushing streams,
He made every brook and the fountains,
Each sings and so brilliantly gleams.

God piled up the awe-towering mountains,
And capped them with fleecy white snow;
Beneath them He placed the rich valleys
Where clear waters ripple and glow.

He covered the earth with green velvet,
He planted the trees and the flowers,
He kissed all the world into beauty
By sending the sunshine and showers.

God gave us the birds in bright colors
That warble their melody sweet
To cheer us and help us remember
To give Him the praise that is meet.

He climaxed His wondrous creation,
Making man in His image sublime
And granted him power and dominion
And for aye in His presence to shine.

Yes, God was so great in creation
But greater, much greater in grace!
For when man had sinned and had grieved Him,
He sent Christ to die in his place!
